

Cognitive versus technical debriefing after simulation training.

July 21, 2010

Bond WF, Deitrick LM, Eberhardt M, et al. Cognitive versus technical debriefing after simulation training. Acad Emerg Med. 2006;13(3):276-283.

<https://psnet.ahrq.gov/issue/cognitive-versus-technical-debriefing-after-simulation-training>

After a simulated clinical failure, investigators debriefed residents using either a technical debriefing on the subject matter or a cognitive debriefing on the failure. They found that the technical debriefing was received slightly better by residents.