

Using human error theory to explore the supply of non-prescription medicines from community pharmacies.

March 28, 2011

Watson MC, Bond CM, Johnston M, et al. Using human error theory to explore the supply of non-prescription medicines from community pharmacies. Qual Saf Health Care. 2006;15(4):244-50.

<https://psnet.ahrq.gov/issue/using-human-error-theory-explore-supply-non-prescription-medicines-community-pharmacies>

The authors applied human error theory to study consultations for over-the-counter medications in community pharmacies. Their findings suggest that pharmacy staff were unaware of professional guidelines for such communications.