

Information technology-based approaches to reducing repeat drug exposure in patients with known drug allergies.

June 18, 2008

Cresswell K, Sheikh A. Information technology-based approaches to reducing repeat drug exposure in patients with known drug allergies. J Allergy Clin Immunol. 2008;121(5):1112-1117.e7.

doi:10.1016/j.jaci.2007.12.1180.

<https://psnet.ahrq.gov/issue/information-technology-based-approaches-reducing-repeat-drug-exposure-patients-known-drug>

This article analyzes how technology such as barcoding, RFID (radiofrequency identification), and computerized alerts can prevent administration errors in patients with identified medication allergies.