

10-State project to study methods to reduce central line-associated bloodstream infections in hospital ICUs.

December 31, 2014

Rockville, MD: Agency for Healthcare Research and Quality; February 19, 2009.

<https://psnet.ahrq.gov/issue/10-state-project-study-methods-reduce-central-line-associated-bloodstream-infections-hospital>

This announcement highlights a program in 10 states that will test methods of reducing central-line-associated blood stream infections in hospital intensive care units.