

Understanding interdisciplinary health care teams: using simulation design processes from the Air Carrier Advanced Qualification Program to identify and train critical teamwork skills.

April 17, 2011

Hamman WR, Beaudin-Seiler BM, Beaubien JM. Understanding interdisciplinary health care teams: using simulation design processes from the Air Carrier Advanced Qualification Program to identify and train critical teamwork skills. J Patient Saf. 2010;6(3):137-46.

<https://psnet.ahrq.gov/issue/understanding-interdisciplinary-health-care-teams-using-simulation-design-processes-air>

This study reports on the development of a teamwork training program based on principles initially developed in the aviation industry.