

Formal medicine reconciliation within the emergency department reduces the medication error rates for emergency admissions.

November 24, 2010

Mills PR, McGuffie AC. Formal medicine reconciliation within the emergency department reduces the medication error rates for emergency admissions. Emerg Med J. 2010;27(12):911-5.

doi:10.1136/emj.2009.082255.

<https://psnet.ahrq.gov/issue/formal-medicine-reconciliation-within-emergency-department-reduces-medication-error-rates>

---

Medication reconciliation completed by a pharmacist in the emergency department significantly reduced prescribing errors for patients subsequently admitted to the hospital.