

Primary care physician communication at hospital discharge reduces medication discrepancies.

December 18, 2013

Lindquist LA, Yamahiro A, Garrett A, et al. Primary care physician communication at hospital discharge reduces medication discrepancies. J Hosp Med. 2013;8(12):672-7. doi:10.1002/jhm.2098.

<https://psnet.ahrq.gov/issue/primary-care-physician-communication-hospital-discharge-reduces-medication-discrepancies>

Patients who were contacted by their primary care provider within 24 hours of hospital discharge were 70% less likely to have medication discrepancies.