

A patient-centered prescription drug label to promote appropriate medication use and adherence.

December 20, 2017

Wolf MS, Davis TC, Curtis LM, et al. A Patient-Centered Prescription Drug Label to Promote Appropriate Medication Use and Adherence. J Gen Intern Med. 2016;31(12):1482-1489.

<https://psnet.ahrq.gov/issue/patient-centered-prescription-drug-label-promote-appropriate-medication-use-and-adherence>

Errors in patient use of medications can lead to adverse drug events. This randomized trial demonstrated that a patient-centered label strategy improved instruction comprehension and adherence for patients with limited literacy and complex medication regimens.