

Differences in strength expression on product labels of compounders and conventional manufacturers may lead to dosing errors.

October 10, 2018

US Food and Drug Administration; FDA.

<https://psnet.ahrq.gov/issue/differences-strength-expression-product-labels-compounders-and-conventional-manufacturers-may>

Confusing labeling can affect safe medication preparation and administration. This safety announcement reviews case reports associated with inconsistent drug strength information that contributed to dosing errors of compounded injectable products.