

"Everybody makes mistakes": children's views on medical errors and disclosure.

January 29, 2020

Koller D, Binder MJ, Alexander S, et al. "Everybody Makes Mistakes": Children's Views on Medical Errors and Disclosure. J Ped Nurs. 2019;49:1-9. doi:10.1016/j.pedn.2019.07.014.

<https://psnet.ahrq.gov/issue/everybody-makes-mistakes-childrens-views-medical-errors-and-disclosure>

---

Research has demonstrated gaps between pediatric patient, parent and physician preferences around disclosure of medical errors. This study enrolled chronically-ill pediatric patients (ages 8-18 years) and used qualitative approaches to explore their views on error disclosure. Participating children expressed strong preferences for error disclosure, apologies, genuine remorse and accountability, as well as a desire to be engaged in patient safety.