

A night in the hospital, from both ends of the stethoscope.

January 20, 2021

Ofri D. New York Times. January 5, 2021.

<https://psnet.ahrq.gov/issue/night-hospital-both-ends-stethoscope>

Physicians have unique perspectives when exposed to health care delivery problems as patients themselves or as caregivers. This news story shares the author's frustrations with the system of care observed during an overnight visit at the bedside of her daughter awaiting an emergency appendectomy. Her experience underscored the value of patients and families engaging in the safety of actions clinicians take when providing care.