

What became of the 'eyes and the ears'?: exploring the challenges to reporting poor quality of care among trainee medical staff.

August 11, 2021

Berry P. What became of the 'eyes and the ears'?: exploring the challenges to reporting poor quality of care among trainee medical staff. Postgrad Med J. 2021;97(1153):695-700. doi:10.1136/postgradmedj-2021-140463.

<https://psnet.ahrq.gov/issue/what-became-eyes-and-ears-exploring-challenges-reporting-poor-quality-care-among-trainee>

Staff willingness to speak up about patient safety enables organizations to implement improvements to prevent patient harm. The author describes barriers that trainees face when presented with an opportunity to speak up as well as barriers faced by those who receive the reports. Initiatives to improve trainee speaking up behavior are discussed.