

Exploring everyday work as a dynamic non-event and adaptations to manage safety in intraoperative anaesthesia care: an interview study.

July 26, 2023

Olin K, Klinga C, Ekstedt M, et al. Exploring everyday work as a dynamic non-event and adaptations to manage safety in intraoperative anaesthesia care: an interview study. BMC Health Serv Res.

2023;23(1):651. doi:10.1186/s12913-023-09674-3.

<https://psnet.ahrq.gov/issue/exploring-everyday-work-dynamic-non-event-and-adaptations-manage-safety-intraoperative>

The operating room is a high-risk environment involving complex tasks. This study used cognitive task analysis (CTA) to explore how anesthesia nurses and anesthesiologists manage complex everyday situations during intraoperative care processes. Findings underscore the importance of available resources, team composition, and non-technical skills (NTS) for managing complex daily work and promoting patient safety.