

Minimizing bias when using artificial intelligence in critical care medicine.

May 29, 2024

Ranard BL, Park S, Jia Y, et al. Minimizing bias when using artificial intelligence in critical care medicine. J Crit Care. 2024;82:154796. doi:10.1016/j.jcrc.2024.154796.

<https://psnet.ahrq.gov/issue/minimizing-bias-when-using-artificial-intelligence-critical-care-medicine>

Artificial intelligence (AI) is susceptible to the same sociodemographic biases as are humans, as, for example, when AI learns from biased data. This review details potential sources of bias across the AI lifecycle and proposes strategies to reduce bias.